Is your manuscript under consideration at any other press? Yes No

Is this manuscript a version of your dissertation? Yes No

If so, please give the date completed and the institution, and describe the nature of any revisions you have made to it.

Have any portions of the manuscript been published or distributed previously? Yes No

If so, who holds the copyright(s)?

Was any part of the research that led to the writing of this manuscript funded by a university, foundation, association, or other similar source? Yes No

If so, please explain.

Are any portions of the manuscript available in an electronic dissertations program or other online archive or website? Yes No

If so, please explain.

Does the work contain quotes, illustrations, or other material that will require permission from other copyright owners? Yes No

If so, estimate the number of permissions that need to be sought (NYBG Press will provide you with a pro forma letter to use in requesting permissions.)

Will you or your institution, faculty, or department provide a subvention to cover costs such as copyediting, cover design, and reviewer/publicity copies?* Yes No

If so, what funds are available?

*Please note that manuscripts are evaluated solely on their merit, not according to availability of a subvention. Once a manuscript is accepted for publication, the Press asks the author(s) to assist in seeking a subvention.
